Senator Olie M. James shows his interest in the road question in the following letter to Rodman Wiley, Commissioners of public roads, Frankfort.

I am glad to have your letter of the 4th, instant asking me to give you my opinion as to the importance of building good roadways in our state. I feel that this is a movement that is worthy of the united support of the people of Kentucky.

It is a well known fact that any section of country develops much more rapidly if the roads are in good condition, making it accessible at all times of the year and greatly facilitating buying and selling operations.

Good roads are uplifting to in which she lived. She was civilizing. They bring the universally esteemed and her mail to the door of every man daily, they open up the way to all who knew her and appreciated the church and the school house she attended her great worth.

Mrs. Gilbert was about thirty years old and is survived by her resource of our great Native husband, parents, and a sister, Mrs. Lloyd Bunker, of Lismore. Funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church, at Lismore Thursday afternoon at two o'clock which were conducted by Rev. Jas. F. Price of Marion and Rev. Wallace Clift, of this city, followed by interment in the churchyard — Providence Enterprise.

Mr. S. M. Jenkins

Dear Sir.

Am enclosing money for lights for the month of Feb.

We have been having some rather warm weather lately, but the nights are cool and pleasant, there is hardly any thing in this country except pine trees and sand, there is some wild game, several deer have been seen by the boys, one passed back of our tent one afternoon, and ducks and quail, I never saw so many in all my life, the bird law does not go out until March in this state, I must close.

Give your family my best regards, and very best wishes for yourself.

Very sincerely,
Clifton Crawford.

BUILDING ONE OF AMERICA'S IMMENSE VICTORY-BEARERS

One of the immense freighters being built for the United States government to carry supplies abroad to our troops and our allies. This vessel is nearly completed, and there are hundreds of others in the many yards throughout the United States. Many ships are being built, but still more must be had to carry our troops and supplies overseas. Skilled workmen are being formed into a huge industrial army under the department of labor, and each worker will receive a certificate and a button showing him to be a volunteer in this work upon which directly rests the fate of world-wide democracy.

BRITISH TROOPS MOVED ON FRENCH CANAL BARGES

Photographs have arrived in this country showing troops being moved to the front on motorlorries, on light railways and on foot, but perhaps never before has a picture come showing troops being moved to the front on barges via canals, which bring them a short distance from the front. The rest of the journey is made on foot. These barges are loaded with the happy Tommies, and they make reasonably fast progress to the front, though of course not as fast as motorlorries or light railways. The Tommies enjoy this method of travel, as it gives them a good opportunity to view the prettier sections of France.

FIERCEST OF FIGHTERS

The French colonials are probably the fiercest fighters in the French army. The Germans at any rate fear them more than anything else on earth. It is said that these "colored gummens" never take a prisoner.

Frost Bitten.

Harold Mueller, a young civil engineer of Richmond, whose work carries him to the country and in association with good many farmers, tells this story: His mother told him to be on the lookout for any bargains the farmer might offer him. While driving along the road one day in his car he noticed a sign on the fence which read, "Take home all the pumpkins you want—free." Mueller thought to himself, "Here is a farmer after my own heart, who is not a tightwad!" He got three of the largest pumpkins he could find and returned home with his find. He was quite proud of his find, and a few days later inquired of his mother when he could hope for a nice pumpkin pie. His heart sank when he learned the pumpkins had fallen to pieces. The free pumpkins had been frost bitten.—Indianapolis News.

PETROGRAD'S LONG MILK LINES

Long line of women and children waiting to buy milk in Petrograd. Most of them carry pitchers, but the supply is so limited that they get very little. This line of people eager to buy necessities can be found at almost all the stores, but the staple foods are very scarce.

CONDENSATIONS

More than 2,000 motorists who failed to stop, look and listen, were killed at grade crossings in 1916, and many more were injured. The number of the killed and injured in these accidents is increasing 25 per cent a year. The houses, streets and roads in Malta are built of nearly white stone, and during the summer months these reflect the sun's rays so strongly that colored glasses are largely worn by both the native population and foreigners. Many sizes and forms of frames available for rush orders and the territory should be covered by competent salesmen.

A demand for trunks and valises of American make can be created in Paraguay. Those now in general use are of local manufacture and are of an inferior grade. The foreign and domestic commerce bureaus will supply a list of importers to firms interested in securing this business.

In a report on business conditions in New Zealand in 1917 Consul General A. A. Winslow states that there is now a fine opening for all kinds of American goods. Agencies should be established with complete stocks available for rush orders and the territory should be covered by competent salesmen.

NEWS CULLINGS From Kentucky

Eddyville.—W. E. Crumbrough, a coal dealer here, fell on the ice at his home and cut a deep gash in his head, requiring four stitches to close. Mrs. Kizzie Smith, of this place, also suffered a severe fall on the ice when her right wrist was fractured and sustained other injuries by a fall on the ice.

Owensboro.—Herbert Morris, of Maceo, this county, was returned to Camp Zachary Taylor by Deputy Sheriff Poole. Morris is 20 years of age and volunteered last summer. He came home shortly before Christmas on a ten-day's furlough, it is said. He sold his soldier's uniform and other equipment.

Flemingsburg.—A young man by the name of Dillon, of Export, in the east end of the county, and who was working in Indiana at the time of the registration June 5, was taken into custody by the authorities for failing to register. Dillon is the first man in the county charged with trying to evade the registration law.

Mt. Sterling.—During the recent cold spell farmers of Montgomery county have sustained considerable losses by stock freezing and sheep and cattle falling on the icy pastures and dying from exposure. Several heavy cattle have broken legs and had to be killed. Many ewes have fallen heavily on ice, and unborn lambs were killed.

Winchester.—Floyd Day, of Shively, received a unique gift in the form of a full-grown wild cat that was killed by a man who discovered it in one of the oil fields near Torrent. A dog sensed the animal and when the man arrived on the scene, the two were having quite a battle. He went up quietly and gave the wild cat a blow with an axe.

Bowling Green.—Two oil wells were struck in Allen county recently. A well was located on the farm of J. H. Johnson, near Gainesville. This land is leased by Willard Hamilton, and produces six barrels an hour. The other well was struck on the Phillips farm, leased by McMahon, Kirkpatrick and Yoke, and is located at Petroleum.

Harrodsburg.—Elijah Preston was awarded $3,000 damages against Pierce Royalty in circuit court. Preston's suit was brought to recover for injuries alleged to have been sustained by him when his motorcycle was struck by Royalty's automobile. Preston was allowed an additional $100 to cover the damage done to the motorcycle.

Carlisle.—The Nicholas County Board has just finished the examination of 150 young men of this county under draft. The quota of this county in the call for the remainder of the first draft is twenty-one. One of the young men called is Martin McCann, Clerk of the Nicholas Circuit Court, who was elected last November to fill the remainder of the term of Solomon Robertson, deceased.

Winchester.—Herbert Heflin, prominent farmer and citizen of the Mt. Sterling pike, near this city, has lost five cattle within little more than a week. The animals developed symptoms of poisoning, and in spite of skilled veterinary attention, died in rapid succession. The loss of the cattle is estimated at $1,000. Dr. Frank Miller, veterinarian, is of the opinion that the cattle were poisoned from tainted silage. Mr. Heflin, however, stated that the silage appeared to be in good condition.

Campbellsville.—As the result of a pistol duel fought in the telephone exchange here D. A. Fletcher, a merchant, 28 years old, and Tom L. Turner, until recently coroner of this county, are dead. Turner was about 42 years old.

Paris.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Bourbon Fiscal Court a number of farmers filed claims for damages for sheep destroyed by wolves. Forty claims were filed with the Fiscal Court, amounting to $3,566.

Stamford.—Of the 312 men examined for army service by the war board here, 200 were put in the first class. This is said to be a record that has not been excelled so far.

Harrodsburg.—Elijah Preston was awarded $2,000 damages for injuries received when a motorcycle he was riding was run into by an auto driven by Pres Royalty in this county.

Winchester.—The family of J. H. Day, a farmer living on the Mt. Sterling pike, four miles from here, had a narrow escape from death when their home burned. The members of the family made their escape in their night clothing. The house and contents were destroyed.

Lexington.—The number of individual suits against the Kentucky Natural Gas Co., based upon the allegations that the company failed to furnish a sufficient supply of gas during January and charged exorbitantly for the service it gave, has been increased to approximately 200.

Howling Green.—Deacon Cherry, 30 years old, met a tragic death two miles from this city in runaway. The man was thrown from his wagon and was found impaled upon a barbed-wire fence. He was dead when help reached him. John Barber, who also was in the wagon, escaped with slight injuries.

Lancaster.—United States Deputy Marshal Winfrey arrested James Simpson, a farmer, at his home five miles from Lancaster, on a warrant charging him with having made "treasonable utterances" against the Federal government. Simpson was taken to Danville, where he is confined in the county jail.

Pikeville.—Pauline Saad, the 4-year-old daughter of J. I. Saad, photographer, of this city, was fatally burned when her clothing caught fire while her mother was out of the room. Pauline had been the subject of some lovely art pictures by her father. One appeared some time ago on the front cover of a leading magazine.

Owensboro.—W. Fred Struck, of Louisville, was elected head of the Kentucky Retail Lumber Dealers' Association at its annual session held here. Other officers elected were S. F. McCormick, of Lexington, vice president; A. J. Thornton, of Morganfield, second vice president; J. Crow Taylor, of Louisville, secretary.

Augusta.—Patrick J. Maloney, of Wellsburg, aged 30, oldest son of Martin Maloney, died at the base hospital at Camp Sheridan of pneumonia. Lebanon.—The farm of the late John Taylor, near Gravel Switch, sold at public sale to wind up the estate, was purchased by Richard M. Chieff, of Bradfordsville. The price paid was $7,200 which is a new record for a farm in Marion county. On the farm, which is considered one of the best in the county, is much white oak and walnut timber.

Glasgow.—Oscar Norris, of Good Luck, in Metcalfe county, was arrested charged with uttering a forged check on the Citizens National Bank, of Glasgow, Ky., and is in jail in default of a $400 bond for his appearance before the County Judge G. M. Bolanman for examining trial. O. E. Cooksey, of this county, is also in jail on the same charge.

Lexington.—Indictments have been returned against J. E. Delph, Jr., and Enmet Martin, charging in one that they made a fraudulent election return, and in the other that they unlawfully and wilfully performed the duties of election officers in such a way as to hinder the objects of the election law. Delph recently was given four years in prison for an alleged election offense.

Mayaville.—The three largest buildings of the Glendale Springs College, a Baptist mountain mission school, eighteen miles east of here, were destroyed by fire involving a loss of about $150,000. The structures destroyed were the administration building, girls' dormitory and boys' dormitory. All of the one hundred and fifty students housed in the two dormitories escaped without injury.

Winchester.—After an investigation made by Superintendent Minco Burnett, he stated he believed the two sticks of dynamite found in a tool bin at the plant of the Paducah Water Co. came there unintentionally and was not the work of some one desiring to destroy the plant. The dynamite is believed to have been part of a supply used by the West Kentucky Coal Co. at its mines at Caseville, Ky., and probably was laid on a pile of coal and forgotten.

Paducah.—While awaiting his turn to answer questions in filling out his questionnaire, Fred Spence, a young man who had been taken from the county jail to the court house, leaped out of a window and escaped. All trace of him was lost a short distance from the court house.

Lexington.—Morgan Cormon, a bartender, has been arrested on a charge of having shot and wounded James O. Williamson, also a bartender. Cormon claims to have shot Williamson in self-defense.

That Woke Her.
The woman had dropped in "just for a minute," but she remained about three hours after the minute was up. Little Freddie had formed several plans, the execution of which must be postponed till the departure of his mother's guest, so he sat quietly thinking things.

"Dear little man!" gushed the visitor. "And what is he thinking about so deeply?"

"I was wondering if it wasn't time for you to be going," said Freddie.

"Hush!" said his mother. Then, turning to her guest: "You won't be offended, Mrs. Smith. Children will go blabbing out the truth without thinking, but they don't mean anything by it."

Then Mrs. Smith recollects that she had only three minutes in which to catch the last car home.

PERUNA—The Greatest Human Vitalizer

Mr. Wm. A. Hartmann, 217½ South Second St., Muskogee, Okla., writes: "During the winters of 1897 and 1898, I was so badly afflicted with catarrh of the head and thought I must surely die from it. After trying many doctors and all other recommended remedies made known to me, I was induced to use Peruna. I was cured entirely by using twelve bottles of Peruna and one bottle of Mannhill.

Since that time, I have never been without Peruna. I use it for colds and as a general tonic during Spring and Fall months and find it the greatest human vitalizer."

"You certainly are fond of yourself," said Mrs. Zebu.

"Tell me," continued Mr. Zebu, "what was the fight about this morning?"

"They've been abusing me for two days, but now they're through," said Mrs. Zebu. "They were jealous of my baby, my dear baby Zebu. A pretty big baby, but still my little pet," said Mrs. Zebu. "They're all right now though," she continued. "It only takes them a day or so to get over their jealousy. They tried to shove me and push me out of the way, but now they're friendly. And I've been cross for a long time."

"That's so," said another Mrs. Zebu.

"But so were you when your zebu baby was young. We're not interested in anything but ourselves and our babies then. Now we're feeling happy once more."

They all agreed to this and told the children stories of how famous they were and how in a country called India they were thought to be sacred and noble cattle.

ZEBU WAYS.

"I feel sorry for you, Mrs. Zebu, Yes, very sorry indeed I feel for you."

"Tim's good of you, Mr. Zebu," said Mrs. Zebu. "It always helps us a creature to feel that she has friends in the world, but just why are you sorry for me? I'm sure there are many reasons for anyone to be sorry for me. They would probably pity me because I'm a zebu, but you don't object to that."

"I should say not," Mr. Zebu answered. "I would be very uncomplimentary to myself if I should be sorry for you because you're a zebu."

"Then pray explain yourself, for you aren't very clear. In fact," Mrs. Zebu added, "I've not the faintest idea what you're talking about."

"I'm sorry for you," Mr. Zebu said, "because your horns are not nearly as big as mine. In fact your horns are quite small and they aren't straight as they should be. All Mrs. Zebus should have straight horns."

"You know full well why they aren't straight," Mrs. Zebu said crossly.

"I'm not so sure whether I do or not," Mr. Zebu answered. "And because I'm not sure you'd better tell me so I will really know."

"I hurt my horns on the bars of my zebu yard. Many of us have done the same. We get angry with the people outside and so we hang against the bars and our horns get bent and crooked."

"I thought there was a reason," said Mr. Zebu.

"Then if you thought so, why did you make me explain?" asked Mrs. Zebu. "It's very foolish of you to waste so much zebu time."

"What's zebu time?" asked Mr. Zebu.

"Don't you really know? I don't want to tell you and waste more of it if you know already."

"I don't know," said Mr. Zebu.

"Zebu time," answered Mrs. Zebu, "means our time—the time we're given for eating and sleeping and walking and talking and standing and quarreling."

"Do they have zebu clocks?" asked Mr. Zebu.

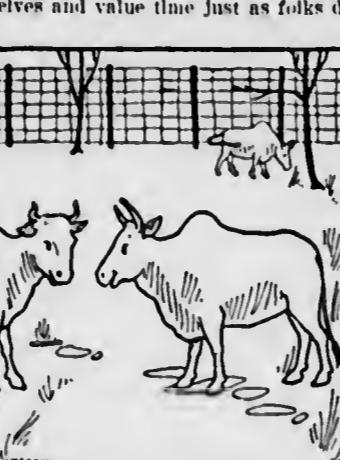

"Of course not," said Mrs. Zebu. "The very idea. It's enough to give us all the time there is and to let us call it what we wish."

"Who lets us call it zebu time?" asked Mr. Zebu.

"No one!" screamed Mrs. Zebu proudly.

"Then whatever do you mean?" asked Mr. Zebu.

"No one stops us from calling it zebu time and so we can if we wish, and I for one think it's a fine idea. It's showing that we think well of ourselves and value time just as folks do

"Why, Mrs. Zebu," said Mr. Zebu admiringly, "you are quite an animal. I won't be sorry for you any more."

"I suppose you were sorry for me too because my bump is so much smaller than yours."

"True," said Mr. Zebu, "but I won't waste my sympathy on you any more, but on the children who don't even show signs of horns and bumps until they are almost a year old. And then it's five full years before a Mr. Zebu is a real and full-sized Zebu like myself."

VILE TASTE BLISTERED MOUTH

Oklahoma Lady Had Dreadful Time Before Finding The Right Remedy—Black-Draught.

Seward, Okla.—Mrs. Annie Bowthby, of this place, says in a letter written for publication: "I have used Black-Draught for two years, or more, and will never cease to be grateful for what it did for me and mine."

Some time ago, my mouth broke out with blisters. I had a vile taste in my mouth, all sick and disagreeable. I seemed to have a great deal of inward fever. I suffered with my back and kidneys. . . .

I was so nervous, it was dreadful. I would almost cry—I suffered so. I had gas on the stomach and pains but as I said, the pain and . . . trouble was most severe. I had the doctor and used several medicines without result.

Still hurting and suffering, I began to use Thelford's Black-Draught, mking it into a tea, and using a teaspoonful dose n't n time in hot water. I gradually got better, my liver began to net, the fever went down and I have never had any more trouble of this kind.

There is no other medicine so good as Black-Draught."

You will say that, too, when you have given Thelford's Black-Draught a trial.

It is a good medicine.

Mrs. Elizabeth Perrian died at her home in this vicinity Saturday evening Feb. 16, 1918, after a lingering illness of several months, she was afflicted with Bright's Disease. Her remains were interred at Dyesburg Cemetery on Sunday evening. Brother Charley Hill made a very impressive talk. Mrs. Perrian was born in Virginia, in 1829, was married to Matthew Henry, in 1847. He died, and she was then married to Barnett Perrian, who preceded her to the grave many years ago. Mrs. Perrian was near 90 years of age. She professed faith in Christ at an early age, and lived a consistent Christian life until death, she was a member of Dyesburg Baptist Church, at the time of her death and had been for many years. She was the mother of twelve children. Mrs. Perrian spoke of dying many times during her long illness, and always expressed her willingness to go, she was conscious to the last, and told her friends and loved ones to prepare to meet their God, told them the songs she wanted sung at her funeral, and also the scripture she wanted read.

Well "Armed"? THE DUTY OF THE CITIZEN

Address Delivered by Virgil Moore At Hopkinsville.

Recently M. and Mrs. M. E. Bacon of Hopkinsville presented a service flag to the Methodist Church of that City and Mrs. Bacon who was a Marion girl, being a daughter of Judge and Mrs. James A. Moore, asked her nephew, V. Y. Moore of Madisonville, also a former citizen of Marion, to make the presentation speech which he consented to do.

We are always glad to know of any noble deed, done by our boys or girls and we think in this case each of them deserve praise. Mr. Moore's speech follows—

In has seemed to me that in a discussion of the subject of the duty of the citizen in the present national crisis one might well inquire at the outset the reason for the existence of any duty on the part of the citizen.

It is all very well to be patriotic with an abstract sort of patriotism. We are taught from the cradle to be patriotic—to love our country—just as we are taught to love God or to love our parents; but it is a dull teacher who tries to instill into the tender mind a love for one so intangible as God without pointing out the many generous blessings He has given us which entitles Him to that love, and the parental watchcare which follows us through the day and knows no rest in the night, the hourly evidences of supremely unselfish affection which father and mother pour on us from earliest memory, make filial devotion the easiest duty man ever had to perform.

But with teaching love of country, the rule seems to have been different, the child and further along the man, is told that he should be patriotic, he is taught to rise when the "Star Spangled Banner" is played, to sing when "America" is sung, and to applaud when, at political speakings, to make sure of safe ground to start on, some politician offers a few generic and wholly obvious platitudes about "this great nation of ours." Further than that the average citizen knows little about his government, save that it taxes him regularly, and if he be not a cautious and righteous man, arrests him occasionally. Unless he has taken the trouble to sit down and think it out for himself—a habit which we Twentieth Century Americans have not formed to any alarming extent—he has no conception that love of country and service of country are obligations as binding as any tie ever welded in the forge of life.

And so, as I try to tell you, what I think is the duty of the citizen to the nation, in this, its terrible hour of trial, I do not believe I can better meet the demands of a materialistic age than to point out what the nation has done for the citizen to earn for it the right to demand from him at this time his unwavering loyalty and his unquestioning obedience. And if my remarks sound very like a Fourth of July speech at a crossroads barbecue, I offer no apology and make no defense except to say that in my opinion much of what Col. Roosevelt would term our "spiritual unpreparedness" at the beginning of the war was due to the fact that we have had, here of late, too few Fourth of July speeches and too few crossroads celebrations of our national birthday.

As an American citizen—an humble American citizen—but one who by virtue of his citizenship possesses certain rights and enjoys certain privileges, I will open in my own name an account with my country, on a large page in a tremendous ledger, an account which might be appropriately headed, "V. Y. Moore, to the United States of America Debtor." The first charge against me goes back for its date to the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth Rock, back to the time when that little band of brave hearted men and women who held duty higher than self, first set foot in a wilderness known to them only for its horrors, in order that they might worship God according to the dictates of their individual consciences. And for all their terrible battles against a thousand powerful foes, against Indian and wild beast and the untamed elements of Nature herself, I am in debt to my country.

The item on the ledger brings me down through the passing years, through weeks and months of trial and tribulation and struggle, through lives of weary toil and endless conflict, through days of savage battle for pioneer fathers, through nights of fear haunted, sleepless anxiety for pioneer mothers; and for every day of body racking labor in that wilderness, for every brave fight with painted savages for every dreary midnight hour passed by terror stricken women in rude huts on the edge of gloomy forests far in debt to my country.

I look for other items on the page, and about the year 1775 I find a heavy charge—for on the page I see the picture of a weak and poverty ridden people, crushed and mangled under the heavy hand of tyranny in numbers few, their material power nothing to be scoffed at opposed by one of the greatest nations the world over—ow and yet with the indomitable courage of unwavering conviction, the inspiring loyalty of men who would lay down their lives for a principle I see them enduring hardships that you and I will never know, that our liberties might be made secure.

I hear the clarion tones of Patrick Henry, as he sets forth the immortal words which have been the bedrock of our national existence ever since they were uttered and I realize that as he said then he could almost feel the hangman's noose about his neck as swift and frightful punishment for his daring. I see that little group of patriots gathered around the most fatal document since Magna Charta, watching as they attach their signatures to it each fully aware that unless that Declaration of Independence be sustained by the arms of his countrymen, he had signed his death warrant. I see the minute men at Lexington and Bunker Hill, their ammunition so limited that they must wait to see the whites of the enemy's eyes before they could begin firing. I see brave men melting household ornaments to make bullets, tearing up family Bibles for gun wadding, and endorsing every privation known to mankind that their husbands and sons might be supplied with their needs on the battle field—a Nathan Hale who regretted that he had but one life to give for his country, an Israel Putnam, who left his plow in the field to seize the sword; a George Washington who went on his knees in the wilderness to carry his country troubles to the throne of his God. A hundred thousand unnamed heroes who suffered and died and died for your liberties and mine—they are all on that page.

And every one of them—for the bravery of Patrick Henry, the calm courage of the signers of the Declaration, for every heroic deed at Lexington and Bunker Hill, for every privation endured by Revolutionary mothers for the martyrdom of Nathan Hale, the bravery of Putnam, the steadfast wisdom of Washington, for every bloody footprint in the snow at Valley Forge, for every unmarked grave on the hillsides of New England, I am in debt to my country.

I cast my eyes further down the page and as I pass line by line, the items mount higher and higher against me. With every year I find a charge—some man's heroism, some woman's sacrifice, the continuing industry and unwavering courage of a great people with a mighty purpose.

I come to 1860, and from there to 1865

the tear stained, blood bespattered entries follow one after another, so thick and fast, each charge larger than the one before it, that I know now once for all that my debt to my country will never be paid.

Hundreds of thousands of dying men a whole nation running red with the blood of its sons, spilt by its sons, starvation, poverty, misery and despair, superhuman feats of heroism, Christ-like acts of self-sacrifice, multiplied thousands of freely given lives; and as a result of it all a great contrivance, its people reunited, their differences wiped out, their liberties made secure, and their homes made peaceful, to be handed down to you and me.

All these charges I see on that page just charges I know them to be, every one of them I owe. And while I have indeed called it my page, in its items as I recite them, every one of you should see your page the page if you please, of the American citizen, for every charge on it, is a charge against every man woman and child in the country. It took it all to give us the privileges we enjoy to day. It took it all to give us the privilege of homes and families of happy heartstones and peaceful firesides, it took it all to give us schools and colleges, those firmest bulwarks against future oppression and disaster; it took it all to give us the privilege of carrying on, each in his own way, his own legitimate business free from interference, from unjust unfair taxation and from riotous despots, it took it all to give to us our churches, and to each one of us the church of his choice, to bestow on us the blessed boon of being able to go to these sacred edifices, in tranquility and peace, and hear through the holy quiet of the Sabbath morning, far from the clash of arms and the shriek of invading shell, those aged old words of comfort and abiding faith, "The Lord is in His holy temple."

These are the precious privileges of American citizens today. They come to us as birthright, a heritage handed down by our forefathers unshaken, unearned, unpaid for. These are some of the things the country has done, yet, is doing daily, for the citizen. The items are all on the debit side of the ledger. Is there any question but that the time has come for some entries on the other side?

I have not n'aive all the days which will ever come to your life or mine, this is our day of settlement, not of complete settlement, for that can never be, but of partial settlement, the largest payment we are able to make for the rights of American citizens.

The service flag of your church which you plan to unfurl here today with its brave array of stars on a background of pure white, fittingly symbolizing the purity of the church home that has given these men to the nation's cause, is more than convincing testimony that becoming you were American citizens who knew their duty to their country, and who are offering to make the greatest possible sacrifice to pay them debt to her. Whatever you and I may do, we can never equal their supreme payment their offer to lay down their lives for long ago was written among the treasure of divine wisdom, "Greater love than this hath no man." But I believe that you who have given, then you who have seen these brethren of yours in God's church, march away from your midst into that charnel house of destruction across the waters, with smiles on their faces and songs on their lips, will receive from that very sight a lesson of the duty of the citizen than could be woven together by the master orators of the world.

For you have seen your own go forth.

Over in Madisonville some time ago when our Red Cross campaign was on, many of our young ladies put on the insignia of that noble order and went from house to house, soliciting memberships. In some places they were rebuffed some urged poverty, some were not interested, some were merely acting on the exploded theory that they could carry their money with them into the world to come, and so in many places they were turned away. But when they came to a home that had sent a soldier boy to the front, when they found a family who sat down to every meal with a vacant space at the table, who gathered around the hear

SHIPPING STRIKE SETTLED BY WILSON

PROMPT ACTION BY CARPENTERS' HEAD AFTER APPEAL TO LOYALTY.

WORK WITH NON-UNIONISTS

The group of shipbuilding would be one of the gravest blows possible to inflict on the country, says President Wilson.

New York.—William L. Hutcheson, general president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters of America, called off the strike in the shipyards at the port of New York and other eastern points after receiving a telegram from President Wilson.

He immediately sent messages to all of the brotherhood representatives instructing them to send word out to the men to report at their places for work Monday morning. There were more than 6,000 men who returned immediately at President Hutcheson's order.

The message that was received from President Wilson deeply impressed the labor leaders here. They held a long conference, at which all phases of the situation were discussed. The order to call off the strike was issued after it was decided to take the matter of adjustment of their differences with the shipyard employers up directly with President Wilson.

The labor leaders took the appeal of the president more as an indication changing them with being unpatriotic, union men explained here last night. They will return to their places and will work, if need be, beside non-union men until such time as their difficulties may be adjusted. It was explained that the order to return was issued as a response to the president's appeal and as an evidence of their confidence in him rather than any "giving up the fight."

President Wilson took bold of the shipbuilding strike with an iron hand. He sent a telegram to the general president of the carpenters and joiners in New York, ordering the men to return to work forthwith.

His message breathed no pleasure. It told the men bluntly that it was their duty in the nation's crisis to further the shipbuilding program and not obstruct it. Refusal on their part to leave their differences to arbitration was "undoubtedly giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

GERMAN TROOPS MUTINY.

Refuse to Obey Commands When Ordered to French Front.

Petrograd.—German soldiers at Grodno and Kovno, according to a report received here from Moscow, have refused to obey a command to move to the French front. The troops have entrenched themselves under the protection of their own artillery and have defeated a detachment of forces which the German staff sent to punish them.

Labor Endorses War Aims.

Washington.—American labor's endorsement of war aims as stated by President Wilson and recognition that the war against Prussianism is a workingman's war is recorded in a declaration by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

The declaration says the peace parleys between Russia and Germany have shown the futility of diplomatic negotiations until the German militarists are convinced they cannot superimpose their will on the world.

SOLDIERS EAGER TO FIGHT

Americans' Anxiety to Get at Gripes With Enemy Brings Highest Praise From French.

Grand Headquarters of the French Army in France.—American and French troops for several days back have been holding in unison the front line trenches of one of the most formidable battlefields of the war, the name of which is known throughout the world. The immediate impression gained in conversation with both French and Americans facing the enemy side by side is that the unison is not only of fighting forces, but of firm purpose to win victory by mutual aid.

"There is only one criticism to be made in connection with the Americans," said a distinguished French officer to the correspondent, who spent a whole day among the Americans holding the line. "They are too anxious to get at grips with the enemy."

American officers confirmed this, declaring that their chief trouble was to restrain their men.

DEPORTING MORE BELGIANS.

Despite Denials to the Contrary 2,700 Belgians Were Deported.

Havre.—Deportations of Belgians by the Germans are continuing, despite the protestation to the contrary by the German authorities, according to information received by the Belgian government. Within the past few weeks the Germans have carried off 2,700 persons from the town of Lokeren, in East Flanders, and put them on military work on the western front.

GREATEST BATTLE OF ALLIES IN SIGHT

AMERICAN, FRENCH AND BRITISH PREPARING TO RESIST EFFORT OF GERMANS.

HUNS HAVE 175 DIVISIONS

Highest Points and Best Observations Are Occupied by Armies of the Allies and Greatest Confidence is Felt.

French Front.—The German and Franco-British armies on the frontiers of France and Belgium at the present moment are preparing for the opening of the gigantic struggle which went on throughout 1917, and ceased only with winter.

Each army has probably a fairly accurate idea of the other's strength. The French and British know they have facing them 155 German divisions, 55 of which are in front of the French and 70 in front of the British lines. (Since this dispatch was written there has been a considerable increase in the German strength on the western front. A cable later from this same correspondent said the Germans now had on the western front 175 divisions, or about 2,100,000 men.) To give the total forces on the allies' side might possibly afford some information to the enemy.

When the initiative may come, when weather conditions permit a resumption of fighting on a large scale, cannot for the time being be predicted, but it appears probable that these millions of soldiers must soon come to close grips.

The armies continue to harry each other. Ever since the battle of Malmaison and Cambrai minor encounters have taken place almost constantly, each side trying to find out the weak spots of the other or making feints to discover the intentions of the opposing army. In Lorraine, in Alsace, before Verdun, in Champagne, and even around St. Quentin, the Germans have attempted trench raids of more or less importance very frequently during the past few weeks, sometimes with strong artillery support, on other occasions purely surprise attacks by infantry units. In all cases they have been unsuccessful, while, on the other hand, the French in their incursions into the German lines have generally been able to carry out their entire plan of reconnaissance and have returned to their lines only after destroying the enemy's works and usually bringing back with them a batch of prisoners.

The results of all these small combats can be seen only after the general engagement has begun. For the present the allied armies occupy very favorable positions for whatever may occur. As a sequel to all the heavy fighting in the fall, they obtained possession of numbers of the highest points and the best observatories, and they have since held them with the firmest of grips, and even in some places improved their positions. There they await the continuation of the battle with the greatest confidence.

NOTED FLYING INSTRUCTOR TRIES TO CORRUPT EDITORS

Fall of Fifty Feet While Teaching a Student at British Training Camp in Texas Causes Death of Once Famous Dancer.

One Co-Defendant Gets Like Sentence, Another Gets Three Years in Prison—Money Passed Through New York Banks.

Fort Worth.—Capt. Vernon Castle, known to thousands in America as a dancer par excellence, and later noted for many thrilling exploits in the air duels upon the western front, flying instructor with the English royal flying corps here, was killed in a fall of only 50 feet, 15 miles west of this city, when his machine crashed to earth while Capt. Castle was endeavoring to avoid a collision with another machine.

In the machine at the time was a student, Cadet R. Peters, an American, who was being trained by the British. Castle was seated in the front seat of the instruction plane. Instead of the rear, as is generally the custom of instructors. The student escaped from the accident with only a black eye, and had Castle been occupying the rear seat he would probably have escaped serious injury.

The official summary says:

Arrivals, 2,101; departures, 2,274; British merchantmen of over 1,600 tons sunk by mine or submarine, 13; British merchantmen of less than 1,600 tons, 6; fishing vessels sunk, 3; British merchantmen unsuccessfully attacked, 11.

The loss to British shipping in the past week shows a considerable increase over that of the previous week, which totaled 15 vessels, 10 of them over 1,600 tons. In the preceding three weeks the losses were eight, eight and 15, respectively.

Legendary Town Is Located.

GERMANY RENEWS WAR UPON RUSSIA

ACCORDING TO REPORTS FROM HOLLAND, KAISER WILL BEGIN ANOTHER OFFENSIVE.

PETROGRAD IS ALLEGED GOAL

Failure of Russia, Says Wilhelm, Automatically Ends Armistice and Operations Will Be Resumed For Protection of Ukraine.

London.—Germany has resolved to renew military activities against Northern Russia. This decision is said to have been reached at a conference at Imperial headquarters, special dispatches from Holland say. The conference was attended by Emperor William, Chancellor von Hindenburg, Field Marshal von Hindenburg, Gen. von Ludendorff, Foreign Secretary von Knechtin and others.

The "no war, but no peace" plan of Leon Trotsky, Bolshevik foreign minister, was returned at the conference, according to the Amsterdam correspondent of the Daily Express, and as Trotsky does not want peace, he will go to war. Invasion of Great Russia, it is added, will continue at my rate until Petrograd is occupied by German troops.

A dispatch to the Daily News from Rotterdam says that the Germans take the view that Trotsky's declaration, though it did not end the war, automatically ended the armistice. (The armistice expired Feb. 14.) The Germans now consider that they have a free hand and mean to use the opportunity.

This, according to the correspondent, does not mean necessarily that the Germans will immediately try to reach Petrograd, but more probably that they will support the Ukraine by force of arms. The Germans, he says, are carrying out an active propaganda in the Ukraine for the purpose of suggesting to the rada that the new state is endangered by the Bolsheviks. It is declared that this is all part of Germany's scheme for breaking up the former Russian empire with a view to extending her own power and influence over the new states, of whom it is posing as protector.

It is certain that the Bolsheviks are now moving troops against the Ukraine, a Berlin dispatch to the Koelneische Volks Zeitung says, and the Central Powers do not intend to allow themselves thus to be robbed of the fruits of their lately concluded peace. The newspaper adds that it "probably has been decided at the conference at Imperial headquarters to resume operations on the Northern Russian front for the protection of the Ukraine."

U. S. BATTERIES AID FRENCH

Effective Assistance on Champagne Front by Americans Bring Victory to French Troops.

Paris.—American batteries took active part in the artillery bombardment in connection with the large French raid in the Champagne, it is announced officially.

A German attempt against a small French post north of Paray-le-Monial (Aisne front) was repelled. The Central Powers do not intend to allow themselves thus to be robbed of the fruits of their lately concluded peace.

Then the Bishop Understood.

Atropes of the Phillips Brooks anniversary, the great bishop took note of things in his daily walks about town. One day he saw a gang of street department employees using their hoes, picks and shovels in such a languid and leisurely manner that he felt moved to chide them for their slothfulness.

"My friends, are you supposed to be working for the city of Boston?" inquired the bishop.

"No, sir; we're working for $2.20 a day, please your reverence," said the spokesman of the gang.

The bishop passed on.

EAT LIBERALLY OF POTATO CROP

War Duty to Save Large Yield of Tubers by Eating Them.

HOW ALL PEOPLE CAN HELP

Heavy Loss of This Perishable Food May Result If Americans Do Not Use It More Liberally—Less Bread Is Needed.

You may know it already, but it will bear repetition now that it is important that everybody eat liberally of the big potato crop; that potatoes are an excellent food for your body; that they are good fuel; that one medium-sized potato gives you as much starch as two slices of bread; that, like other vegetables, they give you salts which you need to build and renew all the parts of your body and keep it in order.

Potatoes furnish starch which burns in your muscles to let you work, much as the gasoline burns in an automobile engine to make the car go. When you have potatoes for a meal you need less bread. Potatoes can save wheat.

SAVE A LITTLE SUGAR TODAY.

Use Sweet Fruits.

Sugar consumption in many households can be easily lowered not only by giving preference to dishes which contain little sugar or with which sugar is not usually served, but also by the use of sweet fruits. For instance, fresh fruits or baked apples may serve instead of sweet puddings, or a salad in place of dessert. Sweet, dried fruits such as dates, raisins or figs served with breakfast cereals will reduce the sugar needs.

blue to boil a potato. Even the best potato can be spoiled by a poor cook.

To boil them so that they will be "fit for a king," drop the unpeeled potatoes into boiling salted water and cook 20 to 30 minutes. Drain the water off at once. If they are cooked too long or allowed to stand in the water they get soggy.

Peeling Is Wasteful.

If you peel the potatoes before cooking them you will waste time and potatoes both. You may throw away a sixth or even a quarter of the good part of the potato with the skins. Also, if the potatoes aren't covered up by the skins while cooking, some of the valuable material will soak out into the water. Even very small potatoes can be economically used, if they are boiled in their skins.

HOME TOWN HELPS

ALIVE TO VALUE OF PARKS

Big and Little Cities Throughout the Country Continue to Plan Extension of Systems.

The great war which has exerted a disquieting effect on many beneficial activities the world over seems not to have interfered with the progress of American municipalities in doing the things that should be done for their citizens. From all parts of the United States go out reports of municipal bond issues for new and extended parks. The great cities of New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago are not content with their expenditures of millions upon millions in years gone by for parks. They are spending more and more. And their example is being followed by scores and hundreds of smaller cities. The story of how Kansas City surmounted topographical eccentricities to create a park system is as well known as the story of Kansas City's pre-eminence in the supply of beef for the markets of the world. Harrisburg, Pa., recently paused to contemplate its public celebration. Its improvements achievements during the past eleven years, notable among which has been the acquisition of 58 acres of park land, equal to one acre for every 700 of its population. Lincoln, Neb., has just passed a bond issue of $50,000, to buy park lands, and a public-spirited citizen has donated to the city a beautiful tract of land worth thousands of dollars for the same purpose. Chattanooga, Seattle, Spokane, El Paso, San Antonio, Dallas, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Detroit, Rochester, Columbus, O., and Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Charlotte, N. C., Springfield, O., and Springfield, Mass., Hartford, Conn., St. Louis, and so on in an almost endless chain, are all working out the park problems in a notable manner.

POTATOES 28 WAYS—

DO YOU KNOW OTHERS?

It is said that there are more than 100 ways to cook potatoes, from the primitive (and still probably the best) methods of boiling or baking with the skins on, to the most complex and seasoned dishes. Here are some of the ways known to the United States department of agriculture. Have you tried them all, or do you know about as many more?

BEAUTY IN HOME GROUNDS

Much May Be Done With a Little Care and Work, and the Results Are Gratifying.

The ground surrounding the typical city residence is not a thing to catch the eye in search of beauty. Usually it is a plain expanse of lawn with here and there a tree to relieve the monotony and provide some shade. A little shrubbery around the porch is also frequently seen, but often it is scrawny, showing that it has been chosen at random, poorly planted and poorly kept. This condition is no general that the exceptional yards seldom fail to attract attention to themselves, and incidentally to the neglected yards.

The war garden movement last year led many who had grown away from planting to revert to the inherent instinct in every person to see things grow and to help them. Many were surprised that their small kitchen gardens began to take time which formerly went to outdoor sports, and that the pleasure was fully as great. The benefits are likewise as readily recognizable. If this interest can be sustained, it is probable that there will be a revival of the home flower garden, and more general interest in the beautification of home grounds.

Men Insist on Eating Meat.

"There are, of course, wasteful families, but most incomes are not elastic enough to admit of much wanton throwing away of good food," a writer says in the Woman's Home Companion. "It is safe to say that a large portion of such waste as there is is caused by the 'simple, plain'—but expensive—tastes of the American man. It is not only the big Johns, but the little Johns, of the country who endeavor to conduct the ranchman who ramble into a New York restaurant, and, having read the menu, clenched a knife and fork in each fist, and, bringing them down on the table, cried out in a fervent voice, 'Meat!'

"This cry of 'meat!' went up in tens of thousands of homes after patriotic women tried to put into effect the substitute menus."

Fuel May Be Cause of Cancer.

A Scotch physician has just completed an extensive series of researches into the incidence of cancer which lead him to some novel conclusions. He finds that in Scotland and the Scotch Islands the percentage of cancer is particularly high in coal-burning districts and low in peat-burning districts. There are some exceptions to this rule and in every such case he finds that the peat-burning district with a high death rate from cancer burns a peat with a high percentage of sulphur. Thus he concludes that coals and peats with a high sulphur content used as a fuel have a direct connection with the development of cancer.

New Civic Pride Plan.

Erect a miniature jail on a prominent corner and through the barred windows exhibit photographs of honest and grounds that need fixing up.

This is the "city beautiful" plan of a Milwaukee councilman.

"When people let their weeds grow or rubbish accumulate, give them publicity," he adds. The council is considering the plan.

Her Reign Over.

"Horrors, what singing."

"Huh? For years she has been a queen of song."

"She ought to realize it is time to abdicate now."

Fads And Fancies Of Fashion

WINNING THE DEBUTANTE'S SMILE.

It is silk and cotton for summer frocks, and here are two of them designed for the young girl, that will make her more than glad that she is alive in a silk and cotton sunner. All the pretty, old-time gingham patterns have been interpreted in taffeta and voile and their inventors of long ago would be delighted with their elegance and daintiness in these fine-grained fabrics. Some of the new frocks in plaid or crossbar taffeta go to the length of copying apron styles.

The pretty frock of corn-colored, crossbar taffeta shown at the left of the picture has the plaid and slimness of pleasant waists, made of plaid corn-colored taffeta, with sleeves of georgette crepe. It has patch pockets ruffled across the top, that design to remind us of the apron pockets, and an ingenious collar made just to suit the frock. This little model is satisfied with a plain straight and narrow skirt that turns neither to the right nor to the left, but pursues its way undisturbed by ruffle or tuck, to the ankles of its wearers. It proclaims the straight silhouette and leaves us guessing as to just where it fastens.

A pretty dress at the right is made of fine voile over a slice of silk. The skirt of voile is gathered at the waistline so that it has considerable fullness, but it is not draped. Just at the hem, that are graceful, ribbons, stitched to these scallops or points are extended into shoulder straps.

In princess slips the bodice is often cut in the shape described above and finished with a narrow hem. Below the hem valenciennes lace insertion is let in. Narrow skirts set onto the bodice with a narrow belt have a series of tucks edged with val lace running about them. They are usually made of

Our boys are defending this country on the high seas and on the land. Our own defense against a common enemy is to keep the system clean by ridding the body of the toxins, or poisons, which are bred in the intestines. When you feel tired, sleepy, headache, when your breath is offensive, or pimples appear on the face and neck, it is time to recognize the danger and protect your bodily health by taking something for the liver such as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

The machinery of the body needs to be oiled, kept in good condition, just as the guns or machinery of a ship. Why should a human person neglect his own machinery more than that of his automobile or his guns? Yet most people do neglect themselves. Their tongue has a dark brown color, skin sallow, breath bad, yet they fail to see that their machinery needs attention.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets have been known for nearly half a century. They are made of May-apple, leaves of aloe and juniper, made into a tiny pellet and coated with sugar. They are standard and efficacious. You can obtain them at any drug store in vials for twenty-five cents. Ask for Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—and get no other!

True to Tradition.

An English, Irish and Scottish soldier were returning to camp after a stroll. They were footsore and tired, and a kindly farmer on his way home from market gave them a lift on the road.

The soldiers were very grateful and wished to reward the farmer for his kindness.

Soldier: "Let's stand him a drink!"

"Sure," said Pat, "that is agin the law. Let's give him some bacon."

"Hoof, inn ladles!" interjected the Scot. "It won't be extravagant. Let's shake hands with the man and wish him good night!"—TH-TH-

HEALTH RESTORED

Serious Kidney Trouble Was Removed by Doan's and Results Have Been Permanent.

"Kidney trouble put me in a bad way," says Thomas A. Knight, 624 N. Ninth St., East St. Louis, Ill. "It came on with pain across my back and the attack kept getting worse until I had a spell that laid me up. Morphine was the only relief and I couldn't move without help. The kidney secretions were scanty, painful and filled with sediment.

"I was unable to leave the house, couldn't rest and became utterly exhausted. The only way I could take care was by bolstering myself up with pillows. For three months I was in that awful condition and the doctor said I had gravel. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me back to good health and I have gained wonderfully in strength and weight."

SELF DEFENSE

DEFEAT BACKACHE AND KIDNEY TROUBLE WITH ANURIC

Many Kentucky people have suffered from rheumatism and kidney trouble and have found that Anuric was the most successful remedy to overcome these painful and dangerous ailments.

The lucky people are those who have suffered, but who are now well because they heeded nature's warning signal in time to correct their trouble with that wonderful new discovery of Dr. Pierce's called "Anuric." You should promptly heed these warnings, some of which are dizzy spells, backache, irregularity of the urine or the painful twinges of rheumatism, sciatica or lameness. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as Bright's disease, diabetes or stone in the bladder.

To overcome these distressing conditions, I would take plenty of exercise in the open air, eat a heavy meat diet, drink freely of water and of course take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets (from strength). You will, in a short time, find that you are one of the firm endorsers of Anuric, a cure thousands of your neighbors, for their 1 package.

Address: Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Mattoon, N. Y., and enclose 10 cents.

LOUISVILLE, KY. - Some time ago I received, by request, a trial package of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. I found them of great benefit in my case of cystitis. After using the trial package I then used a half-sized box, and am now entirely cured. I feel that Anuric is one of the greatest discoveries.

GUARD AGAINST SORE THROAT

Be on your guard right now against sore throat. The atmosphere is chock full of germs that cause sore throat and, if your system is the least bit clogged up or weakened, which is likely at this time of year, after eating heavy foods all winter, you want to give it a thorough cleansing at once by nature's own method, but not by taking nasty old calomel or other drastic cathartics. Just get a bottle of Vin Hepatica, the universal system purifier and tonic. It will cleanse your liver, kidneys, bowels and your entire system and restore your vitality, thus guarding you against colds, sore throat and pneumonia, and other maladies so prevalent this time of year. It is nature's own preventive, as well as remedy, and we so recommend it.

DEATHS

D. W. Brookshire, an aged soldier, died Friday morning Feb. 15, at his home on east Depot Street, in this city, of La Grippe. He had not been well all winter, but his family did not realize he was so near death. His physician was called to see him Thursday afternoon, and left medicine and informed his family that he was in a right bad shape. His wife was up and gave him medicine at 2 o'clock. The funeral was preached at his home Saturday morning, by Rev. Hosea Paris, and J. B.
